What we teach nation of gods and earths

Religious movement The Five-Percent emblem, also known as the Universal Flag of Islam (I-Self Lord and Master).[1] Allah the Father (formerly Clarence 13X), the founder of the Nation of Gods and Earths (NGE/NOGE) or the Five-Percent emblem, also known as the Universal Flag of Islam founded in 1964 in the Harlem section of the borough of Manhattan, New York City, by Allah the Father, who was previously known as Clarence Edward Smith was inducted into the United States Army where his service in the Korean War and Japan earned him honors and medals, including the Korean Service Medal with one Bronze Service Star.[3][4][5][6] Upon his honorable discharge from the military in 1960,[3] Smith began visiting the Nation of Islam, Clarence 13X, in accordance with the NOI's customs.[8][9] As a member of the Nation of Islam, Clarence of El-Hajj Malik El-Shabazz (Malcolm X).[7] Smith began visiting the Nation of Islam, Clarence 13X, in accordance with the NOI's customs.[8][9] As a member of the Nation of Islam, Clarence 13X was an avid student of Malcolm X and NOI literature and lessons. He also became a member of the Fruit of Islam.[10] In 1963, Clarence 13X left the Nation of Islam's doctrine that its biracial founder, Wallace Fard Muhammad, was Allah.[11][12] Between 1963–1964 Clarence 13X left the Nation of Islam, renamed himself Allah, and founded what is known as the Five-Percent Nation or Nation of Gods and Earths. [13][12][14] Five Percenters called him "The Father" because "many of them were the products of broken homes and this was the only father they knew."[15] Thus, Clarence 13X became known as Allah, Allah the Father, and Father, and Father because "many of them were the products of broken homes and this was the only father they knew."[15] Thus, Clarence 13X became known as Allah, Allah the Father, and Father and Father because "many of them were the products of broken homes and this was the only father they knew."[15] Thus, Clarence 13X became known as Allah, Allah the Father and Father a Allah's Five Percenters, which reflects the concept that ten percent of the world know the truth of existence, and those elites and their agents opt to keep eighty-five percent (12][16] The Nation of Gods and Earths teaches that Black people are the original people of the planet Earth, and therefore they are the fathers ("Gods") and mothers ("Earths") of civilization.[12] The Nation teaches that Supreme Alphabet, a set of principles created by Allah the Father, is the key to understanding humankind's relationship to the universe. The Nation does not believe in a god but instead teaches a form of Apotheosis, that the Asiatic Blackman is God and his proper name is "Allah", the Arabic word for "God".[12] Five Percenters have culture-specific names for certain cities. The New York City areas of Harlem ("Mecca"), New Jersey ("New Jerse ("C-Medina"), Queens ("the Desert"), Connecticut ("New Heaven"), St. Louis ("Saudi"), Seattle ("Morocco"), New Rochelle ("Now Rule"), Dallas ("Sudan"), Baltimore ("Born Mecca"), Atlanta ("Allah's Garden"), and Milwaukee ("Cream City").[19][20] History Founding Part of a series on the Nation of Islam Mosque Maryam in Chicago Influencers Satokata Takahashi Noble Drew Ali Leaders Wallace Fard Muhammad Elijah Muhammad Malcolm X Warith Deen Mohammad Louis Farrakhan Tynnetta Muhammad Ishmael Muhammad David Muhammad Davi Speaks How to Eat to Live Message to the Blackman in America Subsidiaries Fruit of Islam Muhammad University of Islam Muslim Girls Training Star Chamber Academy Offshoots and sects American Society Black Mafia New Black Panther Party Peace Movement of Ethiopia Yusuf Bey and Your Black Muslim Bakery Islam portal Politics portalvte The Nation of Gods and Earths was founded by Allah the Father after he left the Nation of Islam's Temple Number Seven in Harlem, New York, the same temple where Malcolm X was a minister from 1960 to 1963. Multiple stories exist as to why Allah and the NOI parted ways: Some state he refused to give up gambling; others state he questioned the unique divinity of Wallace Fard Muhammad, whom the NOI deified as the true and living God in person; or that he questioned by the NOI and excommunicated in 1963, but another version of events says that he left of his own free will.[23] When Allah the Father left the NOI, he was joined by Abu Shahid (formerly John 37X), who agreed with Allah's questioning of Wallace Fard Muhammad. Allah the Father and Shahid were nicknamed "High Scientists" due to their intense study of lessons. [14] Allah was also joined by Justice (formerly James 109X, and before that, James Howell) who would become one of Allah's closest associates until his death. [24] [25] Allah proselytized the streets of Harlem to teach others his views based on his interpretation of NOI teachings. After failing to reach elder adults whom he saw as already set in their ways, he found success with street youth. [26][27][28][29][30] On October 10, 1964, this young group formed the First Nine Born of what became known as the Five-Percent Nation, or later the Nation of Gods and Earths. [31] Allah taught his Black male students that they were Gods, just as he was. He taught them that the astral twin of the Black man is symbolic of the planet Earth because women produce and sustain human existence as does the Earth.[32] Female Five Percenters are also referred to as "Wisdom."[32] The NGE does not consider itself a religion; its position is that it makes no sense to be religious or to worship or deify anyone or anything outside of onesel because adherents, themselves, are the highest power in the known universe, both collectively and individually. [34] Allah the Father developed a curriculum of leght lessons that included the Supreme Alphabets and Mathematics, which he devised, as well as lessons developed by the Nation of Islam's Elijah Muhammad and Wallace Fard Muhammad. [35] The eight lessons were taught in this order, which follows below: Supreme Mathematics (1-10) Supreme Mathematics (1-10) Supreme Alphabets (1-26) Student Enrollment (1-10) English Lesson C-1 (1-36) Lost-Found Muslim Lesson No. 2 (1-40) Actual Facts (9)[36] Each Five Percenter was required to fully "master" each lesson and was expected to be able to "think and reason by forming profound relationships between the lessons and significant experiences within life.[36] Five Percenters were also required to share what they had learned with others, and thereby recruit new members. [37] Social and political impressions and impacts The FBI opened a file on the Five Percenters, "" the FBI refers to the organization as a "loosely knit group of Negro youth gangs.... These particular gangs emanate from New York City Public School Number 120 which is a junior high school..."[38] The FBI file stated that the organization's name meant "The five percent of the Muslims who smoke and drink." [38] 1965 New York newspaper articles referred to the Five Percenters as a "gang," "hoodlums," and "terror group."[38] Allah the Father and the Five Percenters "had a reputation for being unreachable, anti-white criminals."[39] With the goal of preventing New York from having a race riot or uprising, New York Mayor John V. Lindsay sent Barry Gottehrer, the head of the mayor's Urban Task Force, to meet with the organization the FBI had called a "gang" and "terror group."[40] Gottehrer stated Allah the Father was non-violent, "but was dedicated to his community's well-being."[40] Wakeel Allah began organizing picnics and airplane ride sor the Five Percenters that were funded by New York City through the Urban Task Force. [41][40] Wakeel Allah began organizing picnics and airplane ride with Five Percenters." [41] In 1967, Father Allah, with Gottehrer's assistance, opened the Urban League Street Academy, which would become known as the Allah School in Mecca. [40] In 1967, shortly after Allah and Justice started holding classes at the Street Academy, Civil Rights leader Bayard Rustin and Massachusetts Senator Edward Brooke visited Father Allah at the Academy, [42] In an article titled "The Five Percenters," published in The New Amsterdam News, Rustin wroteWe might all applaud the Street Academy as one of the most constructive contributions to the maintenance of stability in the Harlem Community, as well as creating an effective instrument for the rehabilitation of young men who might otherwise have no choice but the streets. [. . . .] Besides their academic and social activities, the Five Percenters told me that they pursue a spiritual ideal of "helping others discover a true knowledge of themselves." They said they pursue a spiritual ideal of "helping others discover a true knowledge of themselves." They said they pursue a spiritual ideal of "helping others discover a true knowledge of themselves." stated "... we are not anti-white, nor pro-black. In fact, we have white Five Percenters."[48] (49] There have been from the organization's inception Five Percenters of various ethnicities. The most well-known Caucasian Five Percenter is John Michael Kennedy, who met Allah in 1965. Allah proclaimed Kennedy a "righteous man" and renamed him Azreal.[50] Michael M. Knight's The Five Percenters includes a photo of a gathering of Five Percenters that includes two photos of Allah with Gottehrer, who Allah called "Moses."[52] Dr. Sujan Dass, who is better known as Supreme Understanding, is a Bangladeshi-American Five Percenter and an influential and prolific writer. His book How to Hustle and Win: A Survival Guide for the Ghetto has been described as having the same impact on the hip hop generation as The Autobiography of Malcolm X and Alex Haley's Roots: The Saga of an American Family had on previous generation so farrican American Americans [53] In 2018 members of the Five Percent Nation and Harlem community members applied to the Transportation/Historic Preservation & Landmarks Committee of Manhattan Community Board 10 to have the northwest corner of 126th Street & Adam Clayton Powell Jr. Blvd in Harlem, New York co-named "Allah, Justice & The Five Percenters Square." [54] [55] The application and subsequent proposal were approved by Manhattan Community Board 10 and the New York City Council.[55] In March 2019 the intersection of 126th Street & Adam Clayton Powell Jr. Blvd in New York was officially co-named "Allah, Justice & The Five Percenters Square." [55] Conflicts After the founding of the Allah School, the Gods and Earths became more influential – upon the April 1968 assassination of Martin Luther King Jr., it quelled a potential rebellion in Harlem. [57][58] Allah was assassinated 13 June 1969 at 21 West 112th Street in Harlem, the residence of his wife and children. [59][60] There have been rumors and theories about assailants and motives, [61][62] but the murder remains unsolved. The murder was a blow to the movement, but according to the direct orders of Allah before his death, some of his earliest disciples, a group of nine men who were called the First Nine Born carried on the teachings, and his friend Justice assumed an acting leadership role. [63] The FBI's labeling the Five Percenters as a "gang" in 1965 has caused much trouble for Gods and Earths in the United States. The "gang" label has caused individuals with even remote NGE affiliation to be designated as security threats in jails and prisons in Michigan, New Jersey, New York, and South Carolina. [64] NGE literature has been banned from penal institutions in these and other states, and inmates have been denied privileges enjoyed by those of other persuasions. Such rules were relaxed in 2004 in New York to allow registered "sincere adherent(s)" to study teachings personally but not share with unregistered inmates during their incarceration.[65] Its newspaper The Five Percenter condemns the states who impose restrictions on their practice as those who "attempt to define us in mate was designated a security threat until he renounced his membership. Judge Steven Whalen found no evidence that the group advocated violence and recommended that it be recognized as a legitimate belief system.[67] Beliefs Basis The men of the Five Percent Nation view themselves as Gods (both individually and collectively as the Original Man).[26] According to the Five Percenter Newspaper, "God first means that it is no longer a judicial argument; centered means everything we do is about God. Culture is the practices and principles of a people at any given time."[68] Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists, implying their search for knowledge and proof.[69][70] The teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths sometimes refer to themselves as scientists. Supreme Mathematics and the Supreme Alphabet and also the 120 Lessons, sometimes referred to as degrees, a revised version of the Supreme Wisdom on the Science of Everything in Life by Supreme Understanding details the teachings of the Nation of Gods and Earths.[73][74] Wakeel Allah has written In the Name of Allah: A History of Clarence 13X and the 5 Percenter is taken directly from the "Five Percent" who are described in "Lost-Found Muslim Lesson No. 2" of the Nation of Islam. The lesson groups the people of the world into three categories. Eighty-five percent of the world's population are described as "uncivilized people; poison animal eaters; slaves from mental death and power, people who do not know the Living God or their origin in this world, and they worship that they know not what. . . [They] are easily led in the wrong direction, but hard to lead into the right direction." Ten percent of the world's population are described as "The rich; the slave-makers of the poor; who teach the poor; who teach the poor; who teach the poor, righteous Teachers, who do not believe in the teachings of the 10%, and are all-wise; and know who the Living God is; and Teach that the Living God is the Supreme Mathematics and Supreme Mathematics and Supreme Alphabet are key concepts in the Five Percent Nation. The Supreme mathematics is a system of understanding numerals alongside concepts and qualitative representations that are used along with the Supreme Alphabet. [28][72] The Supreme Mathematics is thought to be the highest system of numerology in the NGE, used to give qualitative value to numbers in addition to quantity. How the values associated with each number were derived are currently unknown. The numerals are as follows: [77] [78][79] 1. Knowledge 2. Wisdom 3. Understanding 4. Culture or Freedom 5. Power or Refinement 6. Equality 7. God 8. Build or Destroy 9. Born (Birth) 0. Cipher The Supreme Alphabet is a system of interpreting text and finding deeper meaning from the NOI Lessons by assigning actual meanings to the letters of the Latin script. For example, the first letter, A, stands for Allah; the 12th letter, L, stands for Love, Hell, or Right; and the 13th letter, M, stands for Master. The Supreme Alphabet was developed by Allah the Father and Justice. [80] The method by which letters were associated with certain values is unknown. Customs The Five-Percent Nation holds events known as Universal Parliaments in various cities—usually once a month—to build on their interpretation of the Supreme Mathematics, lessons and to discuss business concerning the NGE.[81] These meetings usually take place in public areas and can be held anywhere. The Show and Prove is an annual event that takes place in the Harlem section of Manhattan every second weekend in June. Gods and Earths converge from all over the world at Harriet Tubman Elementary School for this gathering, which includes a marketplace, performances, and speeches in the school's auditorium and a science fair in which children participate. [82] Because the NGE defines itself as a way of life and not a religion, [83] the Nation generally does not observe religious holidays, including those associated with Christianity or Islam. [84] Many Five Percenters honor Allah the Father's birthday (February 22) and/or the official founding of the Nation (October 10) with special events and parliaments.[85] Similar to adherents of sects of Islam, Five Percenters abstain from eating pork or any pork-based by-products.[37] According to Five Percenter Universal Shaamguadd, Allah the Father stated Five Percenters take further steps and eschew meat altogether, often opting for "strict" vegetarianism.[87] Allah the Father advocated "eating one meal a day, every other day or every third days, as prescribed in the Nation of Islam, Five Percenters believe that the original inhabitants of the world were Black (which they refer to as the "Asiatic Blackman" and believe had inhabited the earth for "66 trillion years".) who ultimately descended from the Tribe of Shabazz, while the White race are evil "devils" who were created 6,000 years ago on what is today the Greek island of Patmos by a 'rogue bigheaded scientist' named Yakub (the Biblical and Qur'anic Jacob) who was of the Meccan branch of the tribe. After the Whites attempted to rise up against their creators, they were exiled to the caves of "West Asia" - what would later be known as Europe. The Yakub origin story is the basis for all Five Percenter racial understanding. [89] Gender perceptions Some Five Percenters have been accused of promoting male chauvinism and misogyny. [90][91][92] According to Prince Allah Cuba, since the death of Allah the Father, some Gods have grown preoccupied with male supremacy, and this preoccupation has resulted in the minimization of all things female: from the Cod-Earth dyad. [93] According to the Five Percent Nation, each member constitutes a divine being in his or her own right.[87][94] Some males promote the minimization of woman as the Black woman is "secondary but most necessary."[95] Others describe the Black woman as the Black man's equal: In X Clan's song "Wiz Degrees," Five Percenter and the female member of the hip hop group Digable Planets, offers her explication of gender and divinity: We need to know that there is a feminine principle, a masculine/feminine principle is what gives birth to the universe. It's what brings creation forth, so there has to be an acknowledgement and respect for her in order to bring back the balance. In religion, in Christianity and in Islam, in all religions ... it's a perverted piece of the truth, when it doesn't hold the woman on a pedestal. [97] Five Percenter Just I C Equality Allah asserts that gender equality is an inherent aspect of ALLAH: "How can woman not be God as well as man? First of all, we are the Arm Leg Leg Arm Head (Allah). There is no gender type, we all have the components that make the physical. We all have the components that make the physical. Allah is the all in all. How can we be the all in all if "all" isn't included?"[98] When Allah the Father was alive, some female Five Percenters referred to themselves as Goddesses.[99] A Five Percent female named Tawanna referred to herself as God. When challenged by some male Five Percenters, Tawanna defended her position and was declared by Justice to be "more God than some of the men!"[99] Hip hop In its article on Five Percenter Jay Electronica, Vice Magazine stated in regard to the Five Percent Nation: "It's a movement that's been affiliated with hip-hop from the very beginning, coining terms like 'ciphers' and 'dropping science' and influencing everyone, World's Famous Supreme Team, Big Daddy Kane, Jay-Z, Method Man, Rakim, Wu-Tang Clan, Brand Nubian, Nas, Common, Poor Righteous Teachers, Erykah Badu, and AZ. With these artists, and any others associated with the Five Percenters, music was more than just a message."[100] The Nation of Gods and Earth has propagated its teachings throughout the United States and abroad. In the early 1980s, this spread was in part due to early adherents teaching when away at college or in the military and, more famously, because of the rise of hip hop music. The main theme of the Blackman is God, the Blackwoman is Earth, and through the inner esoteric powers of the Gods and Earths, the youth can transform and possess its true potential, which aspires to overthrow the overbearing oligarchy by becoming just rulers of themselves. This especially meshed well with conscious themes found in other golden-age hip hop recordings. Early hip-hop acts affiliated with the Five Percenters, and who spread its teachings through hip hop, include two MCs of the late 1980s—early '90s conscious-rap era—Rakim of Eric B. & Rakim[101] and Big Daddy Kane. These two acts, as well as some of their other contemporaries, infused Five-Percent teachings and symbolism throughout their music and videos. This reputation brought fans of Rakim in particular to refer to him as the God MC. After Rakim and Kane's heyday rose acts that were even more explicit with allegiance to the NGE, most notably Brand Nubian, Poor Righteous Teachers, Wu-Tang Clan, Killarmy, Sunz of Man, Gravediggaz and Busta Rhymes. [102][103][104][105] The popularity of these acts sparked a boom of new NGE students. The hip hop group 3rd Bass, whose MC's Prime Minister Pete Nice and MC Serch were white and Jewish, respectively, cited NGE lessons in the song "Triple Stage Darkness" and other songs.[106] Five Percenters were the innovators behind early hip-hop slang, including "word is bond," "break it down," "peace," "droppin' science," and "represent."[16][107] Many MCs employ the technique and terminology of the Supreme Alphabet to create acrostics, acronyms and backronyms in their rhymes. For example, in the song "Wildflower," Ghostface Killah rhymes, "I'm God Cipher Divine," spelling G-O-D in the Supreme Alphabet. [108] [109] Furthermore, RZA directly rhymes the Twelve Jewels of life's objectives on his later work with Gravediggaz, rhyming in succession: knowledge, wisdom, understanding, freedom, justice, equality, food, clothing, shelter, love, peace, happiness. [110] He regularly wears an eight-pointed star pendant with a number seven and a crescent, which can be seen on the cover of his album The World According to RZA. Five Percenters in New York City were a visible presence at parties during hip hop's formative years of the 1970s. Scene pioneer DJ Kool Herc recalled that while there was a heavy gang presence in attendance, the Five Percenters were also there as a de facto peace-keeping element.[111] Other examples of hip hop and R&B acts who are (or have been) associated with Five Percent teachings include Killah Priest, Digable Planets, J-Live, Nas, Erykah Badu, Queen Latifah, SZA, Planet Asia, and Guru.[112] Notable current and former members and associates Allah Mathematics – Hip hop producer and DJ of Wu-Tang Clan[113] AZ[114] Big Daddy Kane[115][116] Brother J – frontman and lyricist of X Clan[96][117][118] Busta Rhymes[119] Black Sheep[120] Brand Nubian[115][116] Cipha Sounds – DJ and radio personality DJ Kay Slay[115][116] Digable Planets – Grammy Award-winning jazz-rap group[121] Erykah Badu – Her Grammy Award-winning song "On & On" features teachings of the Five Percent Nation[122] God Shammgod – Former NBA player Guru[123][124]- emcee of the hip-hop group Gang Starr Gravediggaz [125] Rakim [115] [116] Jay-Z- has teachings but not confirmed member Just-Ice [115] [126] Nas [114] was influenced by the Five-Percent Nation but does not claim to represent the culture.
